From the Pastor

Looking back on last weekend's homily and bulletin article, although they got rather long, I wish I had included or more fully developed one more thing - that we are meant to be people of hope. As you may or may not remember, last year was a jubilee year, and the theme was "Pilgrims of Hope." Pope Francis and Pope Leo when opening and closing the year made it clear that that descriptor applied not just to the 33.4 million people who participated in the jubilee in Rome, but to the Church in its entirety. We are all meant to be pilgrims of hope.

What I think that means is remembering our why - and that brings us to this weekend's readings. We are meant to do all things out of our love of God, to become models of the Lord's compassion, and to let that compassion influence everything we do.

On my "to be read" bookshelf - which is getting very full - I have two biographies: one of Hubert Humphrey called "Into the Bright Sunshine" and one of Dorothy Day by her granddaughter called "The World Will Be Saved by Beauty", and although I haven't read them (as then they'd be on a different shelf), I do think the titles capture a bit of the optimism that we are called to as Christians, that whatever we do, whatever we face, we face it with the love of our Lord Jesus Christ. Next weekend the Church celebrates the Solemnity of All Saints, and that is a powerful reminder of how in every age the Saints have done so.

~ Fr. John Powers

STEWARDSHIP REFLECTION

"You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind." - Matthew 22:37

Do you put other "gods" before God? Is your love of money, power, status, comfort or some personal possession greater than your love for God? Do you recognize that everything you have and that everything you are is a gift from God? Putting God first in everything helps keep us from becoming a slave to our possessions and to our pride.

CATHOLIC Q & A

HALLOWEEN

Question: Is Halloween a pagan holiday or a Catholic one?

Answer: The short answer: nowadays, a little bit of both. But it wasn't always that way. Halloween and All Saints' Day are closely connected. In the 800s, the Catholic Church began celebrating All Saints' Day. It was originally called All Hallows' Day or Hallowmas. The celebration began early on All Hallows' Eve. But if Halloween is really about the saints in all their victorious glory, where do we get haunted houses, costumes, and pranks?

All Saints' Day became associated with the other deceased rather quickly. November 2nd is All Souls Day, where we pray for the souls in purgatory. Throughout the European world, especially with the Celtic and Germanic peoples, the dead were honored in the autumn months. The Celtic pagan celebration of Samhain had its own folk rituals and occurred around the same time as these Catholic feast days.

Within the last few hundred years, this included dressing in disguise and going door to door, asking for food in exchange for a rhyme or poem. Some people masqueraded as "dark" spirits and pulled pranks on others. Today's celebration of Halloween tends to take on these later practices, rather than the original meaning of celebrating the saints. But remember … this feast was Catholic first! ©LPi

Have a good day!
